State University Instructors Leave To Take Part in Spokane Meeting

Transfer from the North Central to the Northwestern Association Is Planned by Three Montana Units

Professors Freeman Daughters, W. P. Clark, H. G. Merriam and F. O. Smith and Instructors Darrell Parker and Cecile Sughrue have left to take part in the program of the thirty-fourth annual meeting of the Inland Empire Educational association at the Davenport hotel in Spokane, from Monday to Friday of this week.

The higher educational institutions of Montana, under the jurisdiction of the State University, have decided to transfer membership from the North Central association which meets annually in Chicago, to the Northwestern association meeting every spring in Spokane.

Applications of some of these institutions are being considered by the commission on higher education of the Northwestern association. It is probable that the State University, the State College and the State Normal at Dillon will be accredited to the association at this time.

Discuss High Schools

On Tuesday the commission on secondary schools meets to consider the accrediting of high schools of five northwestern states—Montana, Idaho, Utah, Oregon and Washington. Many of the Montana high schools which have been previously accredited by the North Central association expect to transfer membership to the Northwest association, and their applications will be considered and passed upon at this time.

Wednesday's general sessions will begin.

Three-Part Program

The program, as it is outlined, will include three subjects. The first of these is "The Assumption of the Child-centered Schools." Speakers scheduled to give eight-minute reviews of the various phases of this topic are Prof. I. N. Madsen, Lewistown Normal

Actual Experience

Hubert Miller, playing the part of one of the stokers, actually has had experience in this line, having once stoked on an intercoastal freighter.

Eddie Krause, playing Yank Smith, headed the cast of "House-Party," the major production at the Little Theater last spring. Ted Cooney, Canyon Ferry, makes his first appearance in a Masquer play. Cooney also has been cast in "Far-Off Hills," the major production for this season.

David Duncan, Billings, who understudied Leslie Pace in the lead of "The Devil's Disciple" last fall, plays the part of Long, a Cockney stoker. Kathryn Smith, Bozeman, who appeared on the campus in 1930 in a State College play, "The Show-Off," enacts the role of Mildred Douglas, a rich debutante. Her aunt is played by Anna Mae Krause, Bozeman, who has appeared in several one-acts and who was a member of the Hi-Jinx cast.

Other Members

Others in the cast include: Earl Slusher, Huntley; Roy Peden, Miles City; Owen Barnes, Anaconda; Fred Pilling, Butte; Delmer Meeker, Havre. These men carry the roles of stokers. Robert Myers, Missoula, is second engineer.

LECTURE COURSE IS OFFERED

A course of popular lectures on Anthropology will be given beginning Tuesday, April 12, by Dr. Harry Turney-High, head of the Department of Economics and Sociology at the State University. These lectures are to be given in the evening and the public is invited to attend.

Thomas, Greene and Browning Are Other Officers Elected For Next Year

Mary Breen of Bridger will be president of the Associated Women Students of the State University for the school year, 1932-33 as was decided in the election held last Friday. Hazel Thomas, Terry, polled the majority of votes for the office of vice-president, and Lina Greene, Missoula, is the newly-elected secretary. Joy Browning, Belt, was elected treasurer.

The meeting of the organization held yesterday was devoted to the installation of new officers and the election of Helen Fleming, Missoula, as May Fete chairman. Retiring officers of the association are Ella Pollinger, Corvallis, president; Julia Patten, Columbus, vice-president; Frances Ullman, Big Timber, secretary, and Mary Breen, Bridger, treasurer.

Mary Breen will represent the State University women students at the National convention to be held at Corvallis, Ore., April 20, 21 and 22.

Pan-Hellenic Ball Plans Are Finished

Sorority Formal Will Take Place at Country Club Friday

Arrangements for the Pan-Hellenic formal to be held Friday, April 8, at the old Country club, have been completed. This formal is given annually by the various sororities on the State University campus.

The Country club will be decorated with the emblems and colors of the various sororities. George Bovingdon and his orchestra will play.

The list of chaperons includes: President and Mrs. C. H. Clapp; Dean and Mrs. R. H. Jesse; Dean and Mrs. J. E. Miller; Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Oakes; Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Leaphart; Dean Harriet Sedman; Mrs. Mary Elrod Ferguson.

Tickets and programs will be distributed among the sororities this week.

Athletic Director Is Week's Visitor

Jonathan Butler, Pacific Coast conference athletic commissioner, known throughout the coast as the "know-and-no-man" in regard to knowledge of athletic affairs and his method of answering reporters' questions respectively, slipped into Missoula last Tuesday and left again yesterday afternoon. Apparently satisfied with the Montana athletic situation, he left with an intention of returning probably in May.

Butler figured largely in the disqualification of Joe Lillard, Oregon university football star, from further collegiate competition last fall. Since then wherever he appears reporters are numerous. Butler was appointed commissioner of the conference last June.

Educator Addresses Members of Group

"The School System of Denmark" Is Subject of Talk

Mrs. D. Koch of Copenhagen, Denmark, spoke on "The School System of Denmark," before members of the Pilgrim's club Sunday evening in the University Congregational church.

"In Denmark the majority of the better schools are under the direct supervision of the state. Private colleges exist but do not have outstanding places among the educational institutions of the nation. Correspondence study with universities is widespread in Denmark.

"Co-educational institutions for grade and high school students do not exist in my country. Boys and girls attend kindergarten together, and then those that go to a university study and attend classes together," Mrs. Koch said.

Nell Porter of Stevensville was a guest at the Delta Gamma house Sunday.

State Educators Will Broadcast From KGIR, Butte

Talks Will Be on Aims, Achievements Of State University, for Coast Program

Aims and achievements of the State University of Montana will be explained to radio listeners of the Pacific northwest in addresses by Chancellor M. A. Brannon and President C. H. Clapp over the National Broadcasting company network May 17. They will speak from KGIR in Butte.

Presidents from eight of the universities and colleges of the west will speak over the network during the period beginning today and continuing until May 17. The first of this series will be given by the president of the University of California between 1:30 and 2 o'clock today. The other talks that will be given between 1:30 and 2 o'clock by the various university and college presidents, in order, are: April 12, Stanford university; April 19, Utah State Agricultural college; April 21, University of Southern California; April 28, University of Arizona; May 3, University of Washington; May 5, University of Colorado; and May 17, State University of Montana.

"This series of talks given by the heads of educational institutions is part of an educational program that is being sponsored by the National Broadcasting company throughout the western states. If these prove successful the N. B. C. will sponsor other series of talks of similar nature next fall. The first of these will start about the first of October and will continue until Christmas," Arthur S. Garbett, director of education of the Pacific division of the National Broadcasting company, said in a letter to Dr. G. D. Shallenberger of the State University.

Grizzly Band Will Feature Ensembles

Freeburg Organizes Brass Quintets, Quartets and Trios

To facilitate the presentation of numbers prepared for small brass ensembles, Roy Freeburg, director of the State University band, is organizing brass quintets, quartets and trios from among members of the band.

"One such ensemble, a quintet, is already organized and will be featured at the next band concert," stated Freeburg.

The quintet is composed as follows: trumpets, Eldon Cooney, Missoula, and John Purvis, Havre; French horn, Dudley Brown, Palo Alto, Cal.; baritone, George Bovingdon, Missoula; tuba, Kermit Eckley, Lewistown.

"We are now preparing a sonata especially arranged for a brass quintet by Ewald and a brass quartet number by Glazounov. We would like to feature both of these numbers at the next concert," declared Freeburg.

Research Director Conducts Survey

Tracy F. Tyler, executive assistant and research director of the National Committee on Education by Radio, visited the State University Tuesday and Wednesday of this week, while making a survey of the use of radios in educational institutions throughout the United States.

Mr. Tyler is interviewing deans of schools and department heads in the making of his survey, by which he hopes to accomplish two things: First, to find out what each institution is doing and has done in using radio in connection with its educational program; and second, by interviews with the various presidents, deans and extension directors, to secure their attitudes toward certain matters of policy and objectives which the use of radio in education presents.

From the State University, Mr. Tyler will go to Idaho, Washington and Wyoming.

"Most of the institutions seem to have a very favorable attitude toward the use of radio in education, although the financial situation makes it difficult at the present time for them to do much expanding in this field," Mr. Tyler said.

Willis Moore of Helena spent Sunday and Monday on the State University campus, making arrangements to attend the State University this fall.

Launching of Activities For Annual Track Meet Will Start Tomorrow

Students' Interscholastic Committee Will Make Necessary Arrangements For Twenty-ninth Annual Athletic Gathering; Spurs And Bear Paws Will Have Charge of Visitors

Student work on the Twenty-ninth Annual Interscholastic Track and Field Meet will begin tomorrow when the members of the Students' Interscholastic committee will meet for the first time this year in Craig hall, Room 102 at 4 o'clock. Committee members were selected Thursday at a conference of the faculty committee members and Charles Gaughan, chairman of the committee.

Dean T. C. Spaulding, who for the past 11 years has worked with the committee, will not have charge of the work this year. He will be replaced by Dr. G. D. Shallenberger. Dean Spaulding will be absent from Missoula at the time of the meet this year, as he will accompany seniors in the School of Forestry on their annual Pacific coast tour. Spaulding began the track meet work in 1919 and each year since has had charge of the housing and care of all visiting men contestants. Paul Bischoff, instructor in the Department of Foreign Languages, will assist Dr. Shallenberger in this year's work. Hazel Borders, Bozeman, will be the vice-chairman of this year's student committee.

Campus decorations will be in charge of Robert Blakeslee, Brookings, S. D.; Leland Kennedy, Great Falls; Millard Evenson, Whitefish; Clyde Crego, Missoula, and Curtis Barnes, Lewistown, who will be advisor of the group as representative of the physical plant. This committee will have charge of decorations about the campus such as lights, flags and the arch. No arch was used last year and it will be decided Wednesday whether or not there will be one this year.

House decorations will be handled by a committee composed of Owen Loftsgaarden, Big Timber, chairman; Horace Warden, Broadway; Virginia Connelly, Billings; Mary Breen, Bridger, and Emma Bravo, Sand Coulee. Miss Bravo will be in charge of hall decorations.

John Curtis, Libby, will have charge of publicity and will be assisted by Michael Kennedy, Belt. Spurs will be in charge of Kathryn Coe, Dixon, and Lina Greene, Missoula, president of this year's Spurs. Bob Hendon, Lewistown, and Claget Sanders, Missoula, will direct the work of the Bear Paws in meeting trains and transporting visiting contestants and chaperons.

Foresters Plan 4,000-Mile Journey In Lumber Regions on Pacific Coast

Motor Caravan Will Visit Four National Parks En Route; Southern Point of Tour Will Be San Francisco

Seniors in the School of Forestry, accompanied by three members of the faculty, will leave April 30, on their annual 4,000-mile trip, visiting all of the important lumber, logging and grazing regions on the Pacific coast, as well as four national parks and the California conditions along two main branches, logging engineering and range management. At various times during the tour, the party will split into two groups, thereby covering considerably more territory as well as being able to inspect the most interesting areas where logging or grazing is the outstanding feature.

In California

The party will arrive in California on May 12 and they will inspect the operations of the Pacific Lumber company at Eureka on that day. Their most southern point this year will be San Francisco. This is about 100 miles south of any point made last year.

On the return trip, the loggers and grazers will split several times and make a few side trips. The longest jump planned on the entire journey will be from Spokane to Seattle via Wenatchee which is approximately three hundred and fifty miles.

The foresters will visit at Mt. Lassen National park, Crater Lake National park, Mt. Shasta, Rainier National park and the California redwoods. The School of Forestry officials plan on giving the men an opportunity to see Nisqually glacier in Rainier National park if this year's heavy snows in the mountains will permit transportation to that locality. The party will return home via Wallace, Ida., on May 22. The tour will MEANS nothing to us. A. S. U. M. elections have been a subject for Kaimin editorials as long as we can remember, but we still have no reverence for the topic, and no sympathy for our readers. When spring comes around, elections are too tempting for us to refrain from talking about them.

WHAT is past comes first probably. Last week the Associated Women Students held their annual election. At one time this was one of the important events for the women of the school. The primaries were almost as exciting as the final vote. This year there were not even enough candidates to necessitate a primary election less than two hundred were interested enough to designate their choice of candidates in the balloting. Perhaps A. W. S. is an inactive organization. But if its members ever showed any interest in what it does or might do, the activity of the organization might be increased considerably.

AND—to continue our complaint—almost as slight interest is shown in the A. S. U. M. elections. Sometimes the fraternity designates the succeeding candidate. If not, usually the most popular candidates are chosen, regardless of their special qualifications for the offices. There is considerable talk of campus "problems" of student "issues." But little, if anything, is ever done about them except from faculty prompting. This is not a criticism of A. S. U. M. officers, past or present, but we'd enjoy seeing someone actually define a few of these "problems." We'd like to see the prospective officers stand upon a real platform, no matter what its planks might be. Well, we'd like to see officers do constructive work and not merely repeat what other officers have done before them.

AND more on elections. The barbs held one recently, but little interest was shown in it. It is possible that the "Independents" are too organized? Can it be that membership in the organization of non-affiliated students makes demands upon the students, that are the very things the student was seeking to avoid in not joining one of the social groups on the campus? Or is it that the activities of the organization have not successfully filled the needs of the students belonging to it? We can see many reasons why the organization may fail to arouse interest, but it's unfortunate that an organization should die so young, even though "only the good die young."

THE Bear Paw "situation?" Last fall there was indignation, M men parading the campus, a lot of excitement, and paddles retained. This quarter there were rumors and gossip, negligible comment, a few meetings, an ultimatum and paddles abandoned. And an aftermath of some resentment, some approval. Next fall there will be no paddles, no green caps, and perhaps some junior will murmur, "Gee, it seems funny to see the frosh without green caps." And when we come back for reunions many, many years from now and the undergraduates are all excited about the abolition of some dear tradition, we will only smile—perhaps.

CHAD SHAFFER VISITS HERE

Chad Shaffer, 28, former business manager of the Montana Kaimin, visited in Missoula for a few days last week. He stopped here en route from Wyoming to Oregon where he will join his family. He has been publishing a "Daily Reminder" in Wyoming in partnership with Danta Hanson, another graduate of the State University School of Journalism.

THOMAS E. MOONEYEDITOR

JOEL F. OVERHOLSERBUSINESS MANAGER

The junk-heap of discarded traditions received another contribution last week with President Clapp's decree which ended, with finality, the paddling of infringers of campus regulations. In treating with freshman "fussers," with those who forgot "Th Wear-in' o' th' Green," and with all those who walk on grass in preference to sidewalks, it is argued that better results may be obtained through "the principle of lure rather than that of swat". Civilization is supposed to be marching, ever onward and upward, at the cost of those remnants of barbarism which remain in our customs. In perfect accordance with this trend is the growing movement to discontinue such traditions in American colleges. The administration, in abolishing paddling, acted only after much deliberation. It is certain that such action was taken with the best interests of the school in mind. Whether or not the opinions of the students coincide with those of older, more experienced heads, is a matter of conjecture. It is to be regretted, however, that, as paddling had to go, it could not have been by action of the students.

A peculiar trait of man, since the time of Adam, has been to long for the "good old days". It is not strange that we of the collegiate world should succumb to this longing. Already a little of this is evidenced by those of us who were here when the term "paddling" meant something else than to operate a canoe. And, as the new generations come in, it will become more and more the practice to tell them what it was like during the "regime of the paddle".

Students dislike to admit that they are a convention-bound class, that precedent and fashion take care of the smaller things of life and shape the trend of the bigger ones as well. But they dislike still more to be different. Green caps on the campus will not be missed by upperclassmen, since they have donned a garb and freshmen students can now be differentiated by their absence of a class regalia. The white-breasted junior can be recognized at a glance from the other side of the campus without the necessity of waiting to read the black letters, 1933. Senior dignity will be harbored beneath an attractive jacket of maroon felt which was selected last Thursday by the committee.

A garb distinguishes its wearer from others in scholastic rank. It is desirable from the point of view of stimulating class feeling, the cost is small and students naturally enjoy wearing their class garb, if for no other reason, simply because everyone else does. The white sweaters and maroon jackets should be worn in greater numbers than were the freshman caps because they are worn with pride and not by force. Their popularity will testify to the independence, the inertia, or the unity of attitude and taste of upperclass students.

FORMER STUDENT WINS NATIONAL POETRY PRIZE

Hazel B. Selby, who spent last summer here in the Writer's conference, recently won first prize of $50 for the best one hundred lines of poetry entered in the national contest of the National League of American Pen Women.

Several of these poems were included in the work done by Mrs.

Selby here last summer, and were criticised by H. G. Merriam, chairman of the Department of English.

Mrs. Selby has written to Mr. Merriam, thanking him for his criticism and help. Results of the contest reached her the day she and her husband were to sail on a 16-day cruise of the Caribbean to the West Indies and South American ports.

Ray and Cecilia Du Bois, Alberton, are visiting on the campus.

THE UDDLE

Hud is convinced, dear children, of several things.

That spring is just around the corner; that love comes easier, and takes less with it when it goes, in the spring; that all women have some claim to beauty, but it usually isn't physical; that the tracks now being removed from the ex-street railway should be placed under the speeding limited on the billboard near the Higgins avenue bridge; that brown eyes are nice, but blue ones nicer; that life is not futile—for a picnic ant.

That guzzling for your aging Uncle is conducive of poetical attempts.

For, like Shakespeare:

"I with wine and wassail so convince that memory, the warden of the brain shall be a fume—"

But what a potent, productive fume, says Unk, reminiscing, for here is what happened under imbibing circumstances last week:

AN ODE

Sophistication is no guard, against that funny feeling that comes stealing every spring.

I cannot write it down on paper, for form it into words quite clearly, for so aesthetic, are such phrases that they taper into hazes

Of unintelligible, wordless thoughts which leave me wondering, pondering deeply why the first slim blade of grass, song of lark, or tinted clouds, that pass, should leave me pondering—alas, with such intangible unexpressible thoughts.

Yet, perhaps, as poets say—"the saddest words of tongue or pen—" would be these very thoughts, if I should place them sacrilegiously, in black and white so all might see my inner soul in glaring headlines, which, so placed, they might be seen by all who read such tripe as this:

I WONDER

Why is it that women, in the spring improve exceedingly from the drab, unexcitable creatures of the winter, to exquisite, mysterious, fascinatingly desirable composites of lovely odors, sparkling eyes (whether they are blue or brown), clinging hands—soft rose-tinted skin—kissable lips—excitable limbs—incidentally beautiful hair—and body by Fisher?

Why is it that this, which once failed to stir me now lures me—to the point of supreme sacrifice; so that every shy glance, every subtle suggestion (whether it be verbal or bodily) thrills me deep within my awakened body, where beats a heart now quickened by the season to the point of danger; Why is it?

Uncle Hud humbly apologizes for thinking so deeply on such a stereotyped subject.

Unk humbly apologizes for thinking so deeply.

Unk apologizes for thinking (he's not paid for that, luckily).

AN APOLOGY

Not a Promise

I consequently must explain that drinking beer does stimulate my brain.

In order to avoid such lyrics to keep my friends (and enemies) from hysterics, I will not drink again.

—Not much.

Are you convinced?

Miss Myrtle Clifford, of the faculty of Intermountain Union college at Helena, is attending school here for the spring and summer quarters in order to complete work for her master's degree in journalism.

Girls vote for PIPES (for men!)

ASK any girl you know to name her favorite smoke—for men! Ten to one she'll say a pipe!

She's discovered—trust her bright little eyes—that it's the BIG men, on the campus and off, who welcome the mental stimulation and relaxation they get from this real man's smoke.

And if she's very wise in the ways of smokers, she'll go one better than that. She'll tell you the men who know, smoke Edgeworth!

No two ways about it, you do get a doubly satisfying smoke when you fill up your pipe with this famous old blend. It's a happy combination of choice burleys—cut long to give you a cool, slow-burning smoke. And its mellow flavor and rich aromahavemade Edgeworth the favorite pipe tobacco on 42 out of 50 campuses.

Help yourself to a pipeful next time someone pulls Edgeworth out of his pocket. Pick up the familiar blue tin yourself at any good tobacco stand. Or for a special free sample packet write to Larus & Bro. Co., 105 S. 22d St., Richmond, Va.

Committee Forms Rules Governing Interfraternity Sports Competition

Increased Sports Program Depends Upon Response and Co-operation Of Groups With Administrative Body

State University Greek letter organizations and the Independents are promised a program of increased inter-organization athletic competition for following years if they respond favorably to the spring sports program developed by the Interfraternity council committee on sports competition. The plans, according to Bob Hendon, chairman of the committee, include the possibility of the addition of volleyball and cross country running for the fall quarter; basketball and swimming with one large ice carnival for the winter quarter, and the same spring schedule that will operate during the present quarter.

The approval of these additions will not be final until the organizations demonstrate their desire to co-operate with the director of intramural athletics and the minor sports board of control. Recommendation then will go to the athletic department of the State University for the final approval of the sports, according to the facilities available.

Rules for Competition

Following are the rules which will govern interfraternity sports competition:

Section 1—Competition shall be in the following sports: baseball, tennis, golf, track and horseshoe pitching. These may be added to according to the conditions and at the discretion of the director of intramural athletics and the advisory board.

Section 2—Any man who is enrolled in school shall be eligible for competition with his respective organization; exception, any man who has represented the State University in a particular sport, or any man who has earned his numerals in a particular sport shall be ineligible to participate in that particular sport. He may, however, participate in other sports.

No organization will be allowed to use a man not a member of that organization. There shall be no exception to this rule and penalty for violation will be the forfeiture of the contest in which the man is used.

Section 3—Any team which is not ready to compete within fifteen minutes after the scheduled time shall forfeit the contest, subject to the provisions of the by-laws governing each sport.

Section 4—The minor sports manager in charge of each contest shall be the judge as to forfeiture of that contest under the governing rules. The organization affected may appeal to the director of intramural athletics who may decide the case or refer it to the Intramural Advisory board.

Section 5—The Intramural Advisory board shall consist of four members appointed from Interfraternity council and one member appointed from the Independent organization. This council shall be the final board of appeal.

Preliminary Tryout For Track Artists Will Be This Week

Stewart Will Put Varsity, Freshmen Aspirants Through First Tests; Track Is Repaired

Trackmen will compete in their respective events Friday and Saturday in the first tryouts of the season. Fresh and Varsity trackmen will compete together in all track and field events. A check will be made by timing runners and judging the distances of the field squad. "This will be a preliminary tryout for the men," Coach J. W. Stewart said. "We can't expect much for the first time but hope it will serve its object, that of feeling out the men."

Other tryouts will follow. The final meet of this nature will be held April 21 and 22 in interclass and Varsity tryouts. The following week-end, on April 30, the Grizzly team will journey to Spokane to participate in a triangular meet with the Washington State Cougars and the Idaho Vandals.

The trackmen are grinding away at their respective events. Although Coach Stewart has termed the workouts as still being preliminary, they have taken on a more serious aspect than shown in the conditioning drills used the first week. The men will have to work hard to make up for the time lost due to inclement weather.

The work of putting the track into condition has been going on and at present it is in fair condition. This work will continue throughout the track season with special attention being given prior to home meets. The track was resurfaced last fall. The particular requirements this spring were to roll and drag it.

INTERNATIONAL CLUB WILL HIKE AND PICNIC

The International club of the State University held its first meeting of the spring quarter at the home of Reverend and Mrs. Jesse W. Bunch, Friday, April 1.

During the business meeting, after considerable discussion, the club set the dates for the International club hike and picnic. It was decided to have the hike on April 23, and the picnic on May 30. Refreshments were served after which an hour of games followed.

Sporty Vents

The first trial for the trackmen is scheduled for Friday and Saturday providing the weather permits it. It will be merely a tryout for the men in their respective events.

From the showings made last year by the Varsity men who are out this season, and last year's Cub squad, the competition should be keen. We do not look for exceptional time or distance in the events, but we believe it will reveal sufficient ability to hope for a good Grizzly track squad this year.

At the present time there are close to ninety men, Varsity and yearlings, working out. Coach Stewart has not had time to review the frosh and has been working them with the Varsity men.

A letter from E. K. Hall, member of the football rules committee, to Bernard F. Oakes says that the new rule regarding the use of hands will be interpreted in such a way to prevent the use of hands for striking, but will allow the use of hands in pushing and warding off opponents.

The "hand rule" will carry a dangerous threat of 15 yards penalty for striking with the palms and disqualification for striking with the closed hand.

The penalties are likely to work towards a liberal interpretation by game officials. Being so costly and the distinguishing characteristics between striking and "warding off" being so slight, it is thought in coaching circles that the rule will be dealt with liberally.

Students May View Football Scrimmage

Two Practice Games Are Scheduled For This Week

Football fans are urged by the coaching staff of the State University to come out and see the 1932 Grizzly squad in action in the regular scrimmage session either Friday or Saturday afternoons.

"They are looking pretty good," was the comment of Coach Bunny Oakes as his varsity charges emerged from the first week of play scrimmage with no serious casualties. Bill Hileman suffered a badly-bruised hip and Chalmer Lyman sprained his ankle. Most of the squad are nursing aching joints and bruised muscles but the injuries are not serious enough to keep them out of uniform.

The scrimmage sessions are to a degree demonstrative of the prospects of the State University on the gridiron for the coming year. "The backs are having the most trouble picking up the new style, but they show flashes that make me optimistic about the new offense," said Oakes.

"Windy" Williams, Billings, who was a good halfback last season, has been transferred to the guard berth.

Take a Look at Our

In the line and Naseby Rhinehart, Milwaukee, Wis., flash, has been shifted to the important "tailback" position. Bob Breen, Butte, center on last year's varsity, is being given the opportunity to show his wares at quarterback.

The squad is developing rapidly and the frequent scrimmages will give the fifty-odd men now out, the greatly-needed defensive practice for every man will get into scrimmage during the game day periods.

Ex-Student Writes On Public Opinion

Virginia Sedman Is Author of Story In Sociology Periodical

Virginia Rankin Sedman, former student at the State University, has an article entitled "Some Interpretations of Public Opinion," in the March issue of "Social Forces." Miss Sedman is the daughter of Mrs. Harriet Rankin Sedman, dean of women at the State University.

Miss Sedman attended the State University for two years and was a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. She transferred to Wellesley college and obtained her bachelor of arts degree there. Miss Sedman later went to Columbia University and received her master of arts degree. She is at the present time working for her doctor's degree at Columbia university. She has been studying sociology and will go to Germany this year to do additional research work.

Philip O. Keeney, librarian at the State University, said about Miss Sedman's article: "Social Forces" is one of the leading sociology magazines. Howard W. Odum, editor, is an authority on that subject and his selection of the article proves its merit. The editorial board of 'Social Forces' was greatly impressed with Miss Sedman's originality in subject matter and I think that is one of the reasons that encouraged them to publish the article."

Annual Aber Contest Date Has Been Set

Students Interested in Oratorical Competition Will Meet for Discussion Tonight

The winner will represent the State University in the State Oratorical contest to be held in Missoula May 20. All colleges in the state will participate in this contest. First prize in 1931 was awarded to Marciano Raquel, State University representative, who spoke on "The Philippine Cry for Independence." Second prize went to Albert Erickson, whose subject was "The National Nemesis."

All students who are interested in entering this year's contest will please meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock at Library, Room 302, the office of Darrell Parker, who is in charge of the contest.

Brannon Is Author Of Montana Article

Paper on University of Montana System Is Published in Magazine

M. A. Brannon, chancellor of the University of Montana, is the author of an article, "The Montana System of Administering Higher Education," which was printed in "School and Society," a weekly magazine published in Lancaster, Pa.

Chancellor Brannon's article discusses the political reasons for the division of the units of the university when it was established by the legislature in 1893, and the wasteful competition that resulted.

The plan of centralized co-ordinate control was devised by Dr. John S. Durston. He had observed that large business organizations could operate widely distributed plants efficiently from one central office, and drew up an act which should apply this plan to the Montana educational institutions. In 1913, the legislature passed this act.

Dr. Edward C. Elliott was appointed the first chancellor in 1915, and under his administration the four units became a co-ordinated university. During the 15 years of its establishment, the article declares, the chancellor system has reduced the cost of the Greater University to the state to $33.04 per student.
